

Take a trip from being a retired senior citizen to an emerging entrepreneur with these business ideas

Dreading about retirement? Having mixed feelings of relief from the incessant work pressure at the same time anxiety of being jobless and ignored?

You can work from home, starting a small business with low investments. This allows you to work at your own time and pace and also keeps you away from boredom.

Here is a list of some business ideas for starting a home business after your retirement:

- 1) Publishing Books: It's time to take out those old journals where, once upon a time, you used to write poems or some snippets of your life, even the unsent love letters and turn them in to a beautiful book for the literary world to marvel at. Nowadays, self-published books are garnering as much attention as the traditionally published ones. Self-publishing online is an even more economic option, especially when you are just starting off.
- 2) T-shirt printing: If you like painting or graphic designing, you can turn drab looking t-shirts into a fancy one with your talent. The youth are always on a lookout for their ever-changing fandoms, you can print some of those fandom themed t-shirts like those Harry Potter or Game of Thrones themes and you are bound to get takers of your items.
- 3) Jewellery making: If you are into accessories, it is one of the easiest to execute business ideas. It can be a small but effective business venture. Junk jewellery, accessories with new patterns and designs, vintage looking accessories, and likewise are always looked forward to in the market.
- 4) Candle and Soap making: Fancy scented candles, soaps, incense are also sought after online, especially from small businesses. So if you have a basic idea about aromatherapy, you can make and sell scented items that can be used for fragrance and/or therapy purposes.
- 5) Skin/hair care cosmetics: At present, there is a massive trend of organic skin and hair care products. If you have the knack of concocting herbs and spices to create amazingly effective beauty products, you are good to go ahead and make it a business venture.
- 6) Artwork: If you are an artist or photographer by passion, why not become one by profession? Sell your artwork or photographs to people who will appreciate your work. You deserve to carve your own mark in the world.
- 7) Pottery: If you are a wizard in pottery, weaving magic into clay to create masterpieces, please don't be a miser. Spread your magic to the mere mortals by selling your pottery stuffs, earning few bucks simultaneously.

If these ideas seem to strike a chord in your mind and heart, go ahead with one of these business ideas and start a home business and spend a contented, independent retirement life.
